Programme note

Here are five Latin American children's songs arranged for adult choir. (Why should kids have all the fun?) Rather than simply trawl the internet for ideas, I asked for recommendations from natives of South America – and was delighted by what fell into my hands. A Chilean acquaintance recommended the two lullabies that start and end the set: one appears in many variants throughout Spanish-speaking Latin America; the other is a much rarer and enchanting song of the Mapuche Indians of Chile and southwest Argentina that has been recorded by Beatriz Pichi Malen. A Brazilian friend advocated for the lovely Se Esse Rua Fosse Minha. A Welsh family friend pointed me to the clapping rhyme Tortillitas, and a friend of a friend told me of a new, feminist version of the rather hackneyed Arroz Con Leche that has suddenly started circulating in Argentina. My one internet find was Ronda de la Luna, a Colombian song traditionally sung by children holding hands and going round in a circle.

You'll hear snatches of bossa nova, cumbia, tango and bambuco. And I hope that even if you do not understand any Spanish, Portuguese or Mapudungun, you will enjoy the rhymes, rhythms and word-play that are a feature of children's songs the world over. Oh, and the great horned owl, native to South America, who hoots in the background of the lullabies.

Sheena Phillips

Notes and performance instructions

I've given pronunciation guidance in IPA (International Phonetic Alphabet) for each piece, to the best of my ability. (See the lyrics pages). There are also useful recordings of most of the songs on the internet (also given on the lyrics pages). In the case of the Mapuche piece, the written words look so different from the words as pronounced by Beatriz Pichi Malen (my source) that I've written an IPA transcription of her singing into the score (again, to the best of my ability: I do not know this language at all and couldn't find anyone who does). As Portuguese is also relatively unfamiliar to most singers, I've created an 'IPA score' of that song too in case you find it easier than singing from the Portuguese.

Dotted slurs mean 'don't have a general breath here'.

1. Arrroró Mi Niño

Try to make the owl sound as naturalistic as possible (referring to the youtube link given on the lyrics page). Perhaps cupping hands over the mouth would add a useful effect of distance and obscurity.

3. Tortillitas / Arroz con Leche

The whistling at the start can be done by anyone who's up to it.

Both these songs are presented first in their traditional, rather old-fashioned and sexist versions, and then in alternative versions. There should be a real sense from the shouts of saying, "Come on, give us something different from this old stuff" – and a sense of joy in the new version of Arroz con Leche. 'Cha la la' and 'pi pi pi' are Spanish language equivalents of nonsense syllables 'tra la la'.

The yells and exclamations by the female voices in section D are examples of Mexican 'gritos'. So they're a bit geographically incorrect but they suit the spirit of the piece. There's an enjoyable tutorial on some of these gritos on youtube at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=j5U21kz5q5g>

4. Ronda de la Luna

In this piece, breathe at commas in the text.

'Tru' is another Spanish nonsense lyric syllable equivalent to 'la' or 'dum' etc.

5. Gumayta Puñen May

The solo line should be the reference point for everyone else's timing. A dashed vertical line from the solo line to another part indicates where things should align (at least roughly). For instance, at the bottom of page 18, most sopranos should have finished their current phrase by the time the soloist comes in on 'ku pai'.

X – cancels time signature and denotes a senza misura section

Box and line notation – repeat the material in the box for the duration of the line.

Dotted lines inside a box – these divide a box into different segments. Singers choose independently which segments to sing, in which order, and whether to repeat or omit segments.

Rest in brackets – rest of indeterminate length. Use your judgement about how quickly to come back in. The more singers in the group, the more time you can take between phrases, to keep the texture spacious rather than crowded.

1. Arrroró mi niño

Arrroró mi niño, arrroró mi sol,
Arrroró pedazo de mi corazón.

Este niño lindo se quiere dormir,
Y el picaro sueño no quiere venir.

Este niño lindo se quiere dormir,
Cierra los ojitos y los vuelve abrir.

Translation

Hush-a-bye my baby, hush-a-bye my sun,
Hush-a-bye, piece of my heart.

This lovely baby wants to sleep
But the crafty dream doesn't want to come.

This lovely baby wants to sleep,
Closes its eyes and then opens them again.

La Lechuza

This rhyme is referenced obliquely – through shushing sounds and owl hoots – in the first movement. It's sung to the tune of Frère Jacques with the following lyrics:

La lechuza, la lechuza
Hace ‘shh’, hace ‘shh’,
Hágamos silencio como la lechuza,
Que hace ‘shh’, que hace ‘shh’.

(Translation: The owl goes ‘shh’, Let's be quiet like the owl that goes ‘shh’.)

Owl hoot

The recording at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=p4CRqJJW6S8> is the source of the owl hoot used in the piece.

2. Se essa rua fosse minha

Se essa rua, se essa rua fosse minha
Eu mandava, eu mandava ladrilhar
Com pedrinhas, com pedrinhas de brilhantes
Só pra o meu, só pra o meu amor passar.

Nesta rua, nesta rua tem um bosque
Que se chama, que se chama Solidão
Dentro dele, dentro dele mora um anjo
Que roubou, que roubou meu coração.

Se eu roubei, se eu roubei teu coração,
Tu roubaste, tu roubaste o meu também.
Se eu roubei, se eu roubei teu coração,
É porque, só porque te quero bem.

Translation

If this street, if this street was mine
I would bid, I would bid someone to tile it
With pebbles, with pebbles made of diamond
Only for my, only for my love to walk by.

In this street, in this street there's a wood
Which is named, which is named Solitude.
Inside it, inside it dwells an angel
Who stole, who stole my heart.

If I stole, if I stole your heart,
You stole, you stole mine as well.
If I stole, if I stole your heart,
It's just because, just because I care for you.

The recording at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IuZf_xTt_JU may also be useful for pronunciation. (The singing starts at about 30 seconds into the clip).

I've also uploaded a recording of a native Brazilian speaking the lyrics here:

The nasal endings ẽ, bẽ, are a little like saying ‘aing’ or ‘baing’ quickly in English.

To a lady from the capital,
Who knows how to sew,
Who knows how to embroider,
Who knows how to open the door and go out to play.
With this one – yes! With this one – no!
With this lady I'll get married!

Arroz con leche (new version)

Arroz con leche,
Yo quiero encontrar
A una compañera que quiera soñar,
Que crea en sí misma
Y salga a luchar
Por conquistar sus sueños de más libertad.
Valiente sí,
Sumisa no,
Feliz, alegre y fuerte
¡Te quiero yo!

Translation

Rice pudding,

4. Ronda de la luna

Ya las niñas van danzando,
Con los guantes al revés,
Y la luna va sin alas,
Va sin alas, va sin pies.

¡O luna carirredonda!
Que desde arriba te ves,
Ven a bailar en la ronda,
Dos y dos y dos son seis.

Y la luna va sin alas
Va sin alas, va sin pies.

¡O luna carirredonda!
¿Dónde dejaste los pies?
Ven a bailar en la ronda,
Dos y dos y dos son seis.

Translation

Girls are already dancing
With their gloves inside out.
And the moon goes without wings,
Goes without wings, without feet.

Oh, round-faced moon!
How from above you see,
Come dance in the circle
Two and two and two are six.

And the moon goes without wings,
Goes without wings, goes without feet.

Oh, round-faced moon!
Where did you leave your feet?
Come dance in the circle,
Two and two and two are six.

Key words in Mapudungun

(using the online dictionary <https://glosbe.com/en/arn>)

amun – go guru – fox
guman – to cry
kupan – to come
may – yes (interjection at end of each phrase)
puñén – child
umawtun – to sleep

Very rough English translation

The children cry, the children cry
The foxes come, the foxes come
[don't know: perhaps 'don't cry, child']
Go away foxes [don't know]
Go away foxes
The foxes come, go away foxes
Go to sleep, child, [don't know].

(In essence, perhaps: go to sleep, child, because the foxes have gone now)
